Notes:

1. Adding secondary color for texts. Maybe, adding new colors for the texts on the navigation bar. Adding new colors for the texts on the navigation bar can provide you different levels of hierarchy.

2. Adding more spaces between the lines so that it does not look too blocky. The overall design is already blocky, so maybe adding some different styles to the position of your text. Moving to the right or left. Or even changing the position of your image!

3. I wonder how it's going to look if you add some gradation to your background on the first cover page
